Sheri Shepard exclusively practices in the area of Family Law where she has successfully represented both her male and her female clients since 2005. Ms. Shepard represents clients in all aspects of family law including divorce, legal separation, child custody cases, spousal maintenance, child support, division of assets, modification and enforcement actions. Ms. Shepard has represented families who have multi-million dollars in assets to families who have minimal assets but issues surrounding their children. Ms. Shepard recognizes the importance of every family and its unique situation. Her focus on each client is to help them with the particular circumstance of their case.

Ms. Shepard grew up in Arizona and is originally from Tucson. She has lived in the East Valley since 1994. Ms. Shepard has both the professional and personal experience involved with the emotional aspects and practical issues surrounding family law cases, that individuals who have not had such experience may not understand. Her bachelor's degree in Psychology from Arizona State University has also helped her recognize the emotional difficulties client's may experience during their case.
